

---

WHERE DO WE FIND CURATION?

Working in small groups explore a site of curation through using the sections in the table as research and discussion points. You will then present back your findings to your peers, and produce a definition of 'What is curation?' based on the specific site of curation you have explored.

Site of curation (e.g. news websites)
Specific examples of this site of curation (e.g. www.bbc.co.uk)
What type of content is curated here? (e.g. news stories etc.)
How is the content curated? (e.g. the most current stories at the top etc.)
Who are the audiences and what is the purpose of the curation? (e.g. Primarily British people and ex-Pats, to educate, inform and entertain etc.)

TOP TIP

There are different online and offline sites of curation. Here are some examples:

ONLINE

News Websites
Magazine Websites
Social Media
Digital Story Banks
Digital Archives
Interest-based Websites

OFFLINE

Art Galleries
Museums
Libraries & Archives
Newspapers
Magazines
Booklets and Brochures